ABOUT

I am a creative, by nature. Full Stack Web Developer, by curiosity.

The versatility I have from my background being in art and design, when added to the knowledge of programming, makes me able to easily and beautifully, bring my clients' ideas and visions to life, which I adore!

I have experience in several industries other than development including, but not limited to: Graphic Design, Marketing, Photography, Makeup Artistry, Social Media, Legal and Logistics.

I have fought several battles, in my quest to change the path of my life. These battles have given me the drive and determination, to be and do the best, at everything I take on.

My latest conquest was the SMU Full Stack Web Programming Bootcamp, so now, the possibilities are endless.

I will be building adorable robots and all sorts of other awesome applications from and for all over the world.

I also want to make a difference where possible, so I am always looking for ways to help various community and other nonprofit organizations, to get them online and have an even better chance to thrive.
